The RADIX Philosophy

At RADIX Construction, Inc., we pride ourselves on the mantra that, “Honesty is the currency of trust.”

An atmosphere of trust and mutual confidence is essential for repeat business and building relationships, which is why we believe the RADIX design-build delivery process is best suited to fulfill an owner’s project expectations. The GC, as the Design-Builder, streamlines the design and construction coordination by allowing the GC to take charge of each aspect of the project, conception through completion, bearing responsibility for successful project delivery. Additionally, our clients take advantage of early conceptual pricing allowing them to see accurate project pricing before spending a penny on design. In doing so, cost overruns are prevented and our Clients’ dollars deliver more value.

Our project teams are passionate and accountable construction professionals ready to dedicate exceptional workmanship and extraordinary service.
